

book of the month | May 2026

Evangelism and the Sovereignty of God

Suggested One-Month Reading Plan
(5 pages per day)

Week 1: Monday, May 4th - Sunday, May 10th

Foreword by Mark Dever/Preface
Introduction
Chapter 1: Divine Sovereignty
Chapter 2: Divine Sovereignty and Human Responsibility

Week 2: Monday, May 11th - Sunday, May 17th

Chapter 3: Evangelism (Pt 1: Pg 41-65)

Week 3: Monday, May 18th - Sunday, May 24th

Chapter 3: Evangelism (Pt 2: Pg 66-90)

Week 4: Monday, May 25th - Sunday, May 31st

Chapter 4: Divine Sovereignty and Evangelism

I am so thankful for how J.I. Packer explains biblical truth and important theology in a way that is approachable and applicable. Knowing God is one of my favorite books because of this. In Evangelism and the Sovereignty of God, Packer addresses a question that many have when it comes to theology. How can divine sovereignty and human responsibility co-exist? \**Spoiler alert**** The answer is simply that they do co-exist, because God's Word has revealed that He is both King and Judge. In salvation, God saves and yet He gives His people the responsibility to evangelize. Understanding God's part and our part is so comforting and should be motivating. Packer so helpfully explains the Christian's duty to make known the truth of the gospel, and thankfully God Himself works in the hearts of men.

I am praying that this book would be an encouragement to you as you pursue faithfulness to the various tasks that the Lord has given you. And I am praying that the gospel would be made known in Gilbert and around the world through the people of Gilbert Bible Church. May we be found faithfully laboring to care for others by bringing them to know our Lord and Savior, their need for Him and His amazing grace. To Him be the glory. (Jude 24-25)

Grace,
Tyler Azeltine

